NHS of Baltimore's Blog Brings Conversation to the Web

NHS of Baltimore is excited to announce that we launched our first blog at the beginning of August. Our blog, In Trying Times, discusses and editorializes a wide range of housing and financial market issues from an organizational and staff perspective. The blog is open to comments and questions, so come check it out! While you're there, weigh in on one of our interactive polls about various issues affecting Baltimore and view the results of what others are saying, instantly.

A Gracious Farewell, Goodbye and Good Luck

The entire staff at NHS of Baltimore would like to say farewell to Brian Greenan, Community Organizing Manager, Warren Nelson, Community Organizer and Philip Turner, Community Organizing Intern of our community organizing department. We are so grateful for the skills, dedication and expertise they contributed to the organization during their time with us. Not only were they our colleagues, they are our friends and they will be truly missed. We wish all three of them the best of luck in their upcoming endeavors and new life paths.

John Sarbanes Attends Presentation at NHSB

On Aug. 21, 2008, State Congressman John Sarbanes of the 3rd District, attended a presentation hosted by the Baltimore Homeownership Preservation Coalition, at NHS of Baltimore's headquarters, on Park Avenue. The focus of the presentation was foreclosures in Maryland and how the state can prevent future fallout from the sub-prime mortgage crisis.

NHSB Hosting First Happy Hour Fundraiser

Join us for drinks and food on Tues. Oct. 7th, from 4:00-7:00pm at the Owl Bar in the Belvedere Hotel. 10% of the proceeds will go toward helping us achieve our mission. Mark this event in your calendar and come show your support for NHS of Baltimore!
